

1. Sensory experience: combination of taste. Cooking is a fun hobby of mine and it started for my love of taste and smell. I initially liked how you could smell something and already have a notion of the taste, but the actual taste is different. For example, when I was a kid, I thought jackfruit would not taste good. But now I love jackfruit. This was the same for soy milk (especially since i'm lactose intolerant).
2. Description: mirin, apple cider vinegar, soy sauce, corn syrup, sesame oil, sugar, coriander, black pepper, red pepper, onion powder, salt, ginger
3. Notes
 - The issue with my choices is that these are to enhance, not to consume alone, so don't be surprised by lots of neutral/dislike
 - lots of salty flavor
 - I will try tasting testing again for sure. This was fun to do

